A British View of the American Tariff.

Skipped Daily Telegraph.

"The promoters of the McKinley tariff meant it to push forward the policy of America for the Americans. One method of realizing it was to keep all work within their own dominions. The country was to be made self-sufficient; what could be produced at home was not to be bought abroad. That was the key-note of the McKinley scheme, and it is working out the idea of its designers with the precision and effectiveness of a machine."

REPUBLICAN victory in the coming election would retard for a long time the progress of the sound commercial doctrines that underlie the commercial greatness of Great Britain and alone maintain British ascendancy.—London Evening News.

IN 1890 it was a conflict of predictions now our adversaries must face trade statistics and prices current.—President Harrison, June 21, 1892.

Gunning for Adlai.

The Union Printer takes this little shy at "general" Adlai Madly Sadly Stevenson and Mr. Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The editor of the principal rat sheet of the south and west claims the credit for Mr. Stevenson's nomination. The influence of the editor in the councils of his party is second to the influence of no other man, possibly excepting that of Grover Cleveland. So we have ratism high up in the councils and influence of the Democratic party.

Mr. Watterson is big enough to fire at, but candidly "General" Adlai isn't worth the powder. He is a dream, a passing fancy, a fleeting show. His engagement will end early in November. What is the use of wasting paper and ink on him?

The esteemed Register quotes the following in its editorial columns:

If the consumer doesn't pay the tariff tax in the name of God who does?—Allen G. Thurman.

Judge Thurman is not here to answer for himself. The Register is. What about those files? Have you found out who pays the duty? You ought to answer this question—if you can.

Wants to Orate.

Mr. Cleveland and some of the managers at least are not of one mind touching an important feature of the campaign. He wants to embark in a little enterprise of his own which his advisers view with alarm and to which he points with prospective pride. He thinks it would help immensely if he could be seen and heard on the stump. The other fellows don't think so. One of them, a practical western man, has gone so far as to suggest that Mr. Cleveland "refrain from writing letters and keep off the stump." Our own judgment is that Mr. Cleveland should have his way.

Didn't he allow himself to be seen and heard in Rhode Island, and wasn't Rhode Island "all right"? Let him come to West Virginia and remain here until the campaign closes. West Virginia will treat him well. But she won't vote for him.

Hill is being urged to "break the ice." If it were only a few feet thick he might do it. To dislocate a regulation iceberg is quite another thing. Hill hasn't the tools if he had the disposition.

The Streets at Night.

The perpetual moonlight of our electric-light streets is inviting to drivers and cyclists, and they make good use of the opportunity. After the exhaustion of a hot day nothing is more agreeable than a dash over our brick-paved streets.

All this brings some danger to pedestrians crossing the streets. Notwithstanding the good lighting there are shadows between the lights, and here is where the pedestrian is in danger. He does not always look alive as he should, but there are times when he would have to have more eyes and ears and better ones than we mortals have to escape being run over.

The bicycle steals along noiselessly and rapidly, and if the rider and the pedestrian are unseen by each other, or if either fails to be on the look-out, there may be disaster to one or both. The clatter of hoofs gives some warning, but even then with vehicles and horsemen passing up and down and across great care is necessary to avoid trouble.

The greatest degree of safety lies in everybody who uses the streets keeping his eyes wide open and being considerate of the rights and the life of everybody else. Thus far we have had no serious mishaps, and the INTELLIGENCER hopes there may be none.

A CONNECTICUT man has just been buried in a solid silver casket ornamented with gold. It isn't likely that so much precious metal will remain in the cold, cold ground until judgment day.

One of the Gangs of New York.

The New York Herald has a long article describing one of the "green goods" gangs of that city and their places of business, which are within gunshot of police headquarters. The people who are green enough to be caught by this chaff and dishonest enough to be willing to circulate counterfeit money deserve no sympathy, but this is no reason why the scoundrels should be allowed to play their game.

To suppose that the New York police can't catch them is to suppose the force to be made up of imbeciles. West Virginia and the neighboring counties of Ohio and Pennsylvania are deluged with these offers from the New York dealers, as the INTELLIGENCER has good reason to know.

A leading line may be had from this region any time the New York authorities want it. The fair inference is that they are not yearning for it. They get revenue from the crime of their great city, and the "green goods" men can afford to pay for all the police protection they need.

If Governor Buchanan of Tennessee finds he is having trouble in his campaign over the commutation of Assassin King's sentence, Mr. Cleveland will in honor have to go to his rescue. Buchanan did what the fat gentleman advised him to do.

The Trouble at Buffalo.

The Buffalo striking switchmen say they will not allow non-union men to take the places they have left. It is the right of railroad companies to employ non-union men and of non-union men to be employed, and the state of New York undertakes to protect both sides in the exercise of their rights.

What would be thought of a buyer or a seller of merchandise who should take the position that the party of the other part must trade with him on his terms or be destroyed by fire or rifle shots? Civilized society cannot stand anything of this sort.

Of course the state of New York will restore order at Buffalo. Otherwise it might as well go out of the business of statehood.

It must have cost Queen Victoria something to give Mr. Gladstone a reception that can be called cordial. Her majesty has never had much liking for the g. o. m.

Newspaper Supplements.

In respect of such publications as Protection and Reciprocity, sent out by local newspapers as supplements, the INTELLIGENCER's attention is called to ruling 91, page 823, January, 1892, Postal Guide:

A publisher who purveys for his subscribers a portion of an edition of another second class publication, is deemed a news agent, and may receive and retail the same at the pound rate. This seems to cover the case. Of course it refers as well to the fearfully and wonderfully made "trust" supplement furnished local papers by the New York World as to Protection and Reciprocity.

The Borden murder case seems to have been brought down to this, that the authorities must convict Lizzie Borden or ever after be unhappy.

An Unanswerable Argument.

A New Yorker, who says he voted twice for Cleveland under protest, and who isn't going to vote for him this time, says: "If Grover Cleveland is the highest development of the Democratic party—and he certainly is—the party should promptly be buried out of sight."

There is no perceptible flaw in this man's reasoning. Mr. Cleveland himself desires it understood that he is very much better than his party. Everybody knows what the party is, what it has been and what it promises to be.

Unless it be agreed that the Democratic party has no intention of keeping its pledge to overthrow the protective tariff, it must be plain to the dullest understanding that it means to legislate in favor of foreign wage-earners and against American wage-earners. There is absolutely no escape from this conclusion.

The State Fair Association has earned the commendation of all good citizens by refusing to permit any kind of gambling device on the grounds this year. The public authorities should have made those schemes impossible in other years, but they left that to the fair management, as though the grounds were in some other jurisdiction.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

Rice paper is not made from rice nor rice stalks, nor has it any connection whatever with rice. It is of Chinese manufacture, and is made from the pith of a certain tree resembling the elder. The pith is extracted from the tree in large cylindrical masses, and with sharp knives the Chinese pare off the cylinder till, instead of a cylindrical form, they have a large flat sheet. This is pressed and other sheets added until the required thickness is secured. The paper is then rudely sized and is ready for use.

THE only reason for Mr. Cleveland's nomination, and the thing that forced his nomination in spite of all the efforts of politicians, was the fact that, in the minds of the Democratic masses, he represents the idea of free trade. The platform is an unmistakable declaration against all parleying with protection. It puts the Democratic party in the field as committed to the policy of sweeping away every shred of a protective duty.—Henry George, the Free Trader.

MORNING SMILES.

Mabel's mother went into the nursery one day and overheard her little girl saying: "Now, Dolly, 'ou mustn't be crows, or try to get away or cwy. If 'ou don't like me fix 'ou up, folks won't say 'ou is nice and kiss 'ou. Be still, now." "Why, child! What are you doing?" her mother asked when she came up close to Mabel and noticed she was pulling out the doll's hair in handfuls. "Comb 'Dolly's hair," the little tot replied.—Puck.

BANK DOORS CLOSE.

The Embarrassment Growing Out of the Iron Hall Suit at Indianapolis.

PHILADELPHIA, August 15.—The Mutual Banking, Surety, Trust and Safe Deposit Company, in which all the funds belonging to the Iron Hall are deposited, failed to open its doors this morning. Inquiry developed the fact that the directors had made an assignment for the benefit of the stockholders and depositors, to A. E. Stockwell, of this city. Neither President Somerby nor Cashier Hays could be found to-day, and it is believed they have left for Indianapolis. Assignee Stockwell was found in company with H. G. Williams, the treasurer of the Iron Hall, and when asked for reasons given for the assignment, referred to the recent suit for a receivership instituted against the Iron Hall, and the fact that there were 430,000 orders more on deposit in the bank. "The bank in my opinion, is perfectly solvent," said the assignee, "and is able to pay dollar for dollar all around." Mr. Stockwell declared that it was impossible at this time for him to make any statement of the assets and liabilities of the institution. The demand for the Iron Hall funds, he said, was made yesterday during a joint meeting of the bank directors and officers of the order, which lasted all day.

No Chicago Headquarters.

CHICAGO, August 16.—Wm. J. Campbell, member of the Republican national committee from Illinois, has returned from New York. He confirms the report that the idea of establishing branch headquarters here has been abandoned.

HENRY IRVING is fond of relating a little incident that occurred to him when in a Dorsetshire village last summer. Whilst passing a group of children one of them eyed him so sharply that the actor said, "Well, little girl, do you know me?" "Yes, sir," was the reply, "you are one of 'Beecham's Pills'." She had seen his face in one of their advertisements.

CHOLERA infantum has lost its terrors since the introduction of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. When that remedy is used and the treatment as directed with each bottle is followed, a cure is certain. Mrs. Fanny Lauerdale, of Rock, Pope county, Ill., says it cured her baby of cholera infantum, and she thinks saved its life. A. W. Walter, a prominent merchant at Waterbury, Ill., says it cured his baby boy of cholera infantum after several other remedies had failed. The child was so low "that he seemed almost beyond the aid of human hands or reach of any medicine," but Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured him. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists. Very Bad Sore Cured.

In the summer of 1889 I had a sore and a hole in my foot. It continued to get bigger and at last it was as big as a half dollar. I was completely helpless, unable to walk. After suffering with it for two and a half years, I tried everything, but without relief. I got the CUTICURA REMEDY, and they were the only thing that cured my foot. CUTICURA is my friend forever and ever.

HENRY ALBERT SCHAEFFER JR.,

My son was afflicted with skin disease, itching, and breaking out in large boils all over his body. We tried everything else, but all of no effect. After using one box of the CUTICURA, and two bottles of the CUTICURA SOAP, he was completely restored to health again. They are good medicines, which I recommend to everyone.
